DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1, 3-13, 15-25, and 27-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by FOX et al. (US 2002/0069174).

FOX et al. teach a computer-implemented method for providing access to an account of a second party, comprising:

inputting identification information for the account of the second party;

based on the identification information, receiving an account information that defines a right of a first party to access computer programs associated with the account of the second party (abstract, [0016], and claim 20);and accessing the account information of the second party based on the account information [0010];

enabling the first party to access the account of the second party based on the account information [0009].

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed September 30, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to Applicant's argument the reference does not teach "enabling the first party to access the account of the second party based on the information" or "access the account of a second party" In contrary, FOX et al. teaches these limitation at page 1-summary of the invention "The user (first party) applies for registration with a second party, the first party having access to financial resources through the second party. A certified identifier of the first party is presented to the second party for enabling the second party to confirm a true identity of the first party. The second party transfers a certificate to the first party over the insecure network. The certificate is digitally signed by the second party and includes the certified identifier, which provides an index to the financial resources accessible to the first party through the second party. The certificate is digitally signed by the first party and provided to a seller over the insecure network. The signed certificate indicates that the first party agrees to make a payment for goods provided by the seller in an amount indicated in the certificate. The seller presents the signed certificate to the second party over the insecure network in exchange for the payment for goods. The second party employs the amount indicated in the signed certificate to make the payment to the seller from the financial resources accessible by the first party.”.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
